
Tier IV certified Data Centres:

EBRC (Luxembourg) and BrainServe (Switzerland)

A partnership for IT excellence in the heart of Europe

Luxembourg, November 25 2014

As part of their development strategy, EBRC (Luxembourg) and BrainServe (Switzerland) sealed a partnership agreement in the course of October 2014. Designed, constructed and operated to achieve excellence while controlling costs, the Data Centres of EBRC and BrainServe offer a unique level of resilience.

EBRC and BrainServe want to work on promoting their certified Data Centres, located in the heart of Europe, on the international market. Technical cooperation, focused on continuous improvement of best practices, will also be initiated.

Certified Data Centres

As an international reference in consulting, training and research on IT hosting infrastructure, the Uptime Institute is the only organization in the world able to issue the "Tier" certifications on a scale of I to IV.

This agreement creates a world exclusive. EBRC (Luxembourg) and BrainServe (Switzerland) operate four Tier IV certified Data Centres on their own in the heart of Europe, which ensure the highest level of technical reliability in terms of availability and maintainability.

Traditionally very active in the areas of Banking and Finance, Switzerland and Luxembourg have naturally developed a specific expertise in the availability of IT systems, a crucial requirement for security and data protection.

The partnership between EBRC and BrainServe now allows the most demanding European customers to access an unrivalled level of resilience. This unique offering opens the way for the development of a new digital economy of trust.

With their expertise, EBRC and BrainServe support businesses in their projects through innovative and comprehensive ICT services.

Commonalities

As Patrick Segu, co-founder of BrainServe says, "Luxembourg and Switzerland are economically prosperous. Socio-political stability and legal security play an important role in this success."

Other common features unite the two companies EBRC and BrainServe. According to Yves Reding, CEO of EBRC, "BrainServe and EBRC share the same culture and the same values, combining astute risk management, agility and discretion."

Because EBRC and BrainServe have their own certified data centres, a necessary condition to ensure flawless services, they are partners who share the same vision: IT excellence in the heart of Europe.
